PART VI

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India and Bills published before introduction in that Council

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY DEPARTMENT

New Delhi, 7th November 1944

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to con-olidate and amend the law relating to Government securities issued by the Central Government and to the management by the Reserve Bank of India of the public debt of the Central Government, was presented to the Legislative Assembly on the 7th November, 1944:— We. the undersigned members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Government securities issued by the Central Government and to the management by the Reserve Bank of India of the public debt of the Contral Government was referred, have considered the Bill Papers I to IV and the pap is noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

Clause 3—We have inserted the words "made after the commencement of this Act" in order expressly to exclude from the operation of the clause transfe's made prior to the change in the law, and we have clarified the language of sub-clause (2) to show that the ord rs referred to are those made in accordance with the subsequent provisions of the Bill.

Clause 8—The wording of sub-clause (b) which speaks of a Government security being "held by two or more persons severally" and refers to the vesting of that security in a survivor has attracted considerable criticism. We have restored the wording employed in clause (b) of subsection (1) of section 4 of the Act of 1920 which speaks of a security "payable to two or more persons severally" and provides merely for that security 'becoming payable" to the survivor.

The proviso, which is intended to govern the whole clause, has been clarified by the substitution of the words "in this section" for the word "herein", and has now been printed separately as an addendum to the clause as whole instead of being included in sub-clause (b).

Clause 9-We have considered the criticisms directed against this clause, but we think that it would be against the interests of the small investor if the clause were altered. We have however rectified a printing error by which the opening words of this clause were wrongly appended to the explanation to clause 8.

Clause 14-We have not considered it necessary to introduce a reference to an affirmation in sub-clause (3) since the word "oath" as defined in the General Clauses

Act includes an affirmation.

Clause 24-We have extended the period of limitation from six to twelve years.

Clause 28-The reference to section 2 contained in clause (b) of sub-clause (2) has been corrected. In clauses 4, 7 and 9 minor printing errors have been correct d. 2. The Bill was published as follows:—

MINUTE OF DISSENT

My assent to the above report is subject to my dissent in regard to the provisions of section 7. The Act of 1920 contains a section, No. 12, which confers a special right on Hindu undivided families governed by the Mitakshara Law, by which the managing or the sole surviving member of such a family can get his title to Government securities standing in the name of a deceased sole holder who was a member of the family, recognised by a simple process of obtaining a certificate-after due enquiry-from the District Magistrate of the district in which the family ordinarily resided, that he was the managing or sole surviving member of the family of which the deceased sole holder was a member. This obviates the parties having to resort to costly judicial process. No reasons have been adduced for the withdrawal of this substantial concession. No cases have been cited where this concession has been abused. Apparently, the only reason for eliminating the provisions of section 12 of the Act of 1920, was to ensure uniformity of procedure for all the people of this country; and the fact that such action cuts at the roots of the rights of a large part of the Hindu community was deliberately ignored. As the sole non-official Hindu member of the committee I cannot be a party to the wiping out of a substantial concession enjoyed by a large part of the Hindu community in this respect. T. T. KRISHNAMACHARI

L. A. BILL No. 22 of 1943

(AS AMENDED BY THE SELECT COMMITTEE) (Words underlined or sidelined indicate the amendments suggested by the Committee; a terisks indicate omissions) A Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Govern-ment securities issued by the Central Government and to the management by the Reserve Bank of India of the public debt of the Central Government

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The provisions of law relating to banking companies at present form a subsidiary portion of the general law applicable to companies and are contained in Part XA of the Indian Companies Act, 1913. These provisions, which were first introduced in 1936 and which have undergone two subsequent modifications, have proved inadequate and difficult to administer. Moreover while the primary objective of Companies Law is to safeguard the interest of the stock-holder, that of banking legislation should be the protection of the interests of the depositor. It has therefore been felt for some time that separate legislation was necessary for the regulation of banking in India. This need has become the more insistent on account of the considerable development that has taken place in recent years in banking, especially the rapid growth of banking resources and of the number of banks and branches. The enactment of a separate and more detailed Act has in consequence now become imperative. Regard must also be had to the fact that the banking system is likely in the post-war period to be more vulnerable by reason of the great expansion, both quantitatively and relatively, that has taken place in demand deposits, as compared with time deposits, during the war years.

2. The provisions of Part XA of the Indian Companies Act, which part will now be repealed, are incorporated in the Bill with certain modifications and the addition of several new provisions designed to safeguard the interests of depositors and to ensure the development of banking in India on sound lines. The main features of the Bill are ast follows:

(i) A simple definition of banking with the object of limiting the scope of the legislation to institutions in which the funds are deposited primarily to ensure their safety and ready withdrawability

(ii) Prescription of minimum capital standards;

(iii) Prohibition of trading with a view to eliminating non-banking risks:

(iv) Inclusion in the scope of the legislation of banks incorporated or registered outside British India;

(v) Provision of an expeditious procedure for liquidation

(vi) Inspection of the books and accounts of a bank by the Reserve Bank when necessary;

(vii) Empowering the Central Government to take action against banks conducting their affairs in a manner detrimental to the interests of the depositors;

(viii) Prescription of a special form of balance sheet and conferring of powers on the Reserve Bank to call for periodical returns.
